CLR 89 of 2004

Hon. P.C. Pant, J.

Heard learned counsel for the revisionist.

Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that an S.L.P. has been filed before the Hon'ble Supreme Court. However, the revisionist failed to show any stay order if granted by the Supreme Court, either to the Court executing the decree or this Court's order.

In the circumstances, the Court before whom the decree is pending for execution was bound to proceed with the execution proceedings. There is no refusal to exercise jurisdiction vested in the trial court or exercise of wrong jurisdiction by it. Hence, the revision is devoid of merits and is dismissed summarily.
